Mavrodaphne

Clear ruby with an amber-orange hue. Plummy fruit and pleasant herbaceous aromas, hay and straw, lead to a luscious flavor of sugar-sweet black raisins.

Glass $3.50

Samos Nectar

Made from select Muscat grapes that are laid in the sun to dry and concentrate their flavor. Upon completion of that phase, the grapes are vinified and then the wine is aged in oak for three years. The result is a full-bodied dessert wine with a complex bouquet.

Glass $4.25

Samos Grand Cru

The Muscat grapes are left to over-ripen on the vine. Once the grapes have attained the right sugar level, they are harvested and traditionally vinified. The result is a sweet wine with a 15% alcohol level.

It is well balanced with many ripe and tropical fruit flavors present on the nose and on the palate.

Glass $4.00

Estate Toplou

A natural, sweet wine made from the Eliatiko grape variety in the Toplou Monastery in Sitia. After harvest, the grapes are laid out on straw mats to dry in the sun. The grapes are then pressed and vinified in the solera method. A deep ruby color with rich earthy aromas and flavors.

Glass $4.00

St. John Commandaria

The historical sweet desert wine. Harvested grapes are spread out in the sun to dry until their sugar density reaches 19-23 Baume. Once achieved, the grapes are crushed and fermented until the process stops naturally due to the high sugar content. The must is then aged in oak barrels for a minimum of two years. Similar to the solera system, the barrels are never completely emptied. New juice is added to the barrel containing old juice and the process begins again. A sweet wine with a powerful bouquet filled with dried fruits, spices, and oak. It is luscious and full-bodied.

Glass $4.00
